FIFTH REPORTED SLAIN IN BLOODY COTTON MEN RIOT

PIXLEY, Calif., Oct. 10.—UP—Four Mexicans were shot to death tonight a negro was reported killed and a score of persons were wounded when guns flamed to climax a strike of 12,000 cotton pickers in the San Joaquin valley.

Nine murder warrants were issued for farmers accused of killing two Mexicans here.

At Arvin, 80 miles from here, a strike leader was under arrest, accused of killing another striker while sharpshooting from a tree at a deputy sheriff.

Indications were that other violence would follow.

DECLARATION OF WAR

"Farmers around here are going to have a secret meeting," one embattled grower here said.

"These agitators are either going over the hills, or going west."

A. F. L. TOLD OF ITS DUTY IN CRISIS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—UP—Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson warned the American Federation of Labor in convention here tonight that it stood as "the one greatest hope of despairing humanity" and that if it failed as a "prop against collapse" it could not escape responsibility.

A minority of industry and a minority of labor is threatening the whole enterprise of recovery, Johnson warned in one of the most dynamic speeches of his career. He cited the captive coal mine fight in Pennsylvania as an example of the "10 percent" of capital and labor that was failing to cooperate.

"You cannot tolerate the strike," he shouted to assembled labor leaders.

"The old order is going for ever, and by no man's designing," Johnson said.

"If a dictator came tomorrow, what more could he do than has been done? If some ruthless sealer after power aspired to grasp this sorry scheme of things what could he do to feed the hungry mouths, grown bitter and resentful after four years of patient suffering? The answer is that he could do nothing. We will find our way out of this mess not by smashing down what has been built up, but by applying intelligence and timing and control to this complex machine of which we are all a part. And that is exactly what the NRA is intended to do."

Local Labor To Be Used On Building

When rebuilding and strengthening of the Roosevelt Junior high school is done, provisions will be made that local labor be employed.

This was suggested yesterday by all members when the Richmond Union high school board of trustees met.

Scott For Local Labor

Under the suggestion made by Scott, the school board will not call for bids on the work. Instead, an emergency measure will be drawn up, and will be submitted for the approval of Bryon Wilson, county superintendent of schools.

Immediately upon receipt of Wilson's approval, the school board will hire workers to start on the project.

It was pointed out that in addition to giving local men jobs, the work can be started much earlier than under the other plan, whereby bids would have to be advertised for three weeks.

L. S. Stone, architect, who has been drawing plans for the work, appeared before the board yesterday and stated that his plans have all been completed.

Seek Plans Approval

The board then moved that City Superintendent of Schools W. T. Helms and Stone go to Sacramento on Thursday and present these plans before the state board for early approval and action.

Tests On Gymnasium

It was stated that further tests on the gymnasium are being made and the results of these examinations will be told later by Professor C. O. Davis of the University of California, who is conducting the tests.

It is expected that actual work will be started on the building by either the end of this month or the first of November.

Florida Vote Puts State In Wet Column

Tallahassee, Fla., Oct. 10.—UP—Tobacco's gained a commanding lead tonight in early returns of Florida's referendum on repeal of the 13th amendment.

United Press tabulation of returns from 71 of the state's 1275 precincts showed 6089 votes for repeal and 1671 against. The returns came from 24 of the state's 67 counties.

Reports from throughout the state indicated the vote was extremely light. Apparently little more than 100,000 ballots were cast by 500,000 qualified voters.

Wet forces were confident of victory as the returns trickled in slowly.

At Orlando, Mrs. T. W. Graves, a member of the executive committee of the United prohibition forces for Florida and chairman of the W. C. T. U. Central Florida district said the "Florida dry cause is lost due to failure of prohibition advocates to vote to the polls."

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Ohman and daughter, of Eureka are visitors at the home of Mrs. R. Tcherassy in Mira Vista.

Two Schools Wanted By El Cerrito

El Cerrito renewed its requests for its own junior and senior high schools yesterday in a communication to the Richmond Union High School Board of Trustees.

A letter was received by the board from the school committee of the El Cerrito Lions club asking that the board take some action on the matter.

Chairman A. A. Hughes appointed Ira Scott and Aubrey Wilson as members of a committee to meet with the El Cerrito clubmen some time in the near future.

The El Cerrito club asks that the board go on record favoring building of such schools in El Cerrito. The letter stated that it was realized that such action could not be taken at once, or during the present school year, as no provisions had been made for such a change.

The letter further stated that (Continued on page 8)

Turf Field For Gridiron Is Proposed

The Richmond Union High school would be provided with a fine turf football field, under a proposal advanced yesterday at the business meeting of the Richmond Union High School board of Trustees.

W. T. Helms, City superintendent of schools, advanced the proposal, declaring that the present football is a nuisance not only to the school children, football game spectators, but also to neighboring homes.

This statement was heartily endorsed by A. A. Hughes, chairman of the board. He declared that dust that arises during the progress of a football game (Continued on page 8)

Transport Of Pupils A Problem

Transportation of school children, one of the weightiest problems confronting school authorities, was discussed yesterday by the Richmond High school trustees, with a possible solution of the perplexing question advanced.

Although no official action was taken by the board, it was decided that nothing could be done until the next meeting, at which time the question will be settled.

W. T. Helms, city superintendent of schools, announced that William P. St. Sure, of the Easting Street Railways, Ltd., will come here sometime this week and will go into conference with him to see what arrangements might be made.

Suggestions were made by Helms, Ira Scott, A. A. Hughes, Aubrey Wilson and E. M. Downey, members of the board, as to how the problem could be worked out.

Plan Suggested

It was stated that the transportation company would furnish busses to take the children to school. School busses would be used as a "feeder line" to bring the children from outlying districts to the bus line, where they would be ultimately transported to local schools.

May Use Key Busses

Under the plan brought forward by Scott, of El Cerrito, the Key busses would run down San Pablo avenue. Children living within a certain area would walk to the busses.

Truck Overturns, Girl Is Killed, Mother Saved

RENO, Nev., Oct. 10. Six year old Sarah Strunk, hitch hiker, was killed by a truck, her mother, Mrs. Marjorie S. Strunk, of Lockhaven, Pa., was killed near here early today when the coal truck atop which they were riding left the road and overturned.

Sarah, her mother, the relief driver, and two other women hitch hikers, Mrs. Margaret Burke of Los Angeles, and Miss Eva Billman of Erie, Idaho, were all buried beneath the load of coal. The girl had suffocated by the time passing motorists dug them out.

William Kennedy, driver of the truck, said he had picked the Strunks up out in the desert east of here and that they were penniless and had not eaten for two days.

Local Fishermen Battle the Waves

M. L. Frazier of 1009 Roosevelt avenue, with two friends named Malory and Martin, had an unpleasant experience fighting the waves of Suisun bay on Saturday when the boat in which they were fishing floated for several hours without motive power except their oars. The motor in the boat stalled and they were unable to start it again. Rowing became necessary and it was 10 o'clock Saturday night before they reached Bay Point, cold and exhausted after their experience.

KIDNAP PLOT CLUES TOLD AT HEARING

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 10.—UP—The fantastic story of how a 12 year old girl was used as a shield by two of the nation's most widely sought fugitives and mention of Gas Winkler, slain Chicago underworld figure, featured the second Charles Urschel kidnaping trial today.

Winkler and Joe Berni, questioned after the Federal Reserve bank truck robbery last month, were linked with the case as men with whom George (Machine Gun) Kelly counseled after fleeing with his wife, also on trial, following the kidnaping of the oil millionaire.

The girl, sun tanned little girl, adding "diamonds" Arnold, whose story led to arrest of the Kellys, in Memphis, told of the wanderings of the couple and their threats to kill prosecutors during the first Urschel kidnaping trial.

The girl's story of her adventures was climaxed by testimony of W. A. Rorer, legal minded department of justice agent, who said that Kelly told him that Urschel was the "fourth choice" of the kidnapers. Rorer helped capture the pair.

Urschel, for whose release a $200,000 ransom was paid, was (Continued on page eight)

Harry's Cafe Sales Tax for 2 Months

Harry's Cafe, Harry Benakis & Son, proprietors, at Eleventh and Macdonald avenue is sending his sales tax report to the State Board of Equalization today, covering the last two months of business.

His report when dropped in the mail will contain a certified check for $132.22, which shows two things—how a sales tax amounts up, and that Harry is doing some business notwithstanding there is a period of depression in our midst.

The only thing Benakis regrets is that the amount of sales tax was not twice as much.

Loan Muddle Is Clarified By Opinion

Monies borrowed by counties from the Federal Government through the RFC for road construction and improvement may be repaid out of the counties allotment of State and tax funds, Attorney General Webb held yesterday.

But, should the county have borrowed also from the State $20,000, 000 relief fund such loans constitute first lien upon the gas tax allotment, was the Attorney General's further opinion. The State loan must be repaid before such funds are used to liquidate the Federal loan.

Attorney General Webb also informed H. H. Cotton, chairman of the State Advisory Board for Los Angeles that counties may transfer lands to the Federal Government and lease back buildings erected thereon, provided the amount involved does not exceed the taxable income of the county for any one year.

In another opinion Webb held the State cannot recover from relatives of persons sent to State institutions the $5 per die fee paid sheriffs for transporting them.

VICTORY IS
FOR OILERS

By CHARLES GLUM
Friday's Prediction
Richmond 27, Concord 0.

The Richmond high riders are once more riding on the crest of high favor among the prep football fans of this city. They should continue to do so next Friday when they travel to Concord to meet the aggregation representing Mt. Diablo's eleven.

A reborn spirit of confidence prevailed during the daily practice sessions of the Oilers this week in preparation for Friday's encounter despite the fact that at last night's workout it became almost certain that Paul Moitza and Swan, both ends, would not be in the game. Moitza is the flashiest end to be developed at the local institution and he will be a future college great is shared by many fans. Swan, the other injured player, while not as versatile as Moitza is a consistent ball hawk and his loss is of great importance.

It is fortunate that Ribbel's eleven faces a comparatively easy team Friday. The Oiler mentor seeks consolation from the knowledge that this fact permits his two sterling ends a well deserved rest and that they will be at their best on October 20th when Richmond locks horns with their old traditional rivals, the Hayward Farmers on their own backyard.

A great deal of credit must be given Ribbel and his assistants for their untiring efforts in slowly bringing their charges up to their present winning ways. The Oiler coach started the season faced with the responsibility of getting his men to "click" as a unit. He flatly refused to show any partiality or put any of his players on the back. He repeatedly warned them he would not tolerate any nonsense from self styled "stars" and that it would be football from start to finish. The scrappy mentor informed his proteges they were a likely looking bunch and if they would lend their ears to his plea he would guarantee them a successful season.

Richmond opened the season with University high at Oakland by dropping a 3 to 0 decision. The Oilers could hardly be blamed for losing this game as they were slow in ironing out their football fundamentals and the game was marred by frequent fumbles by both sides.

The following week Gaile's Lions from San Francisco officially inaugurated the football season at Richmond and were downed by a 6 to 0 score.

After the Vallejo defeat, Richmond's coach used every conceivable means to snap the locals out of their inferior complex, developed by the Vallejo one-sided affair. Constant drills in fundamentals and renewed confidence resulted in Richmond's winning their next three games over Alameda, San Rafael and Alhambra.

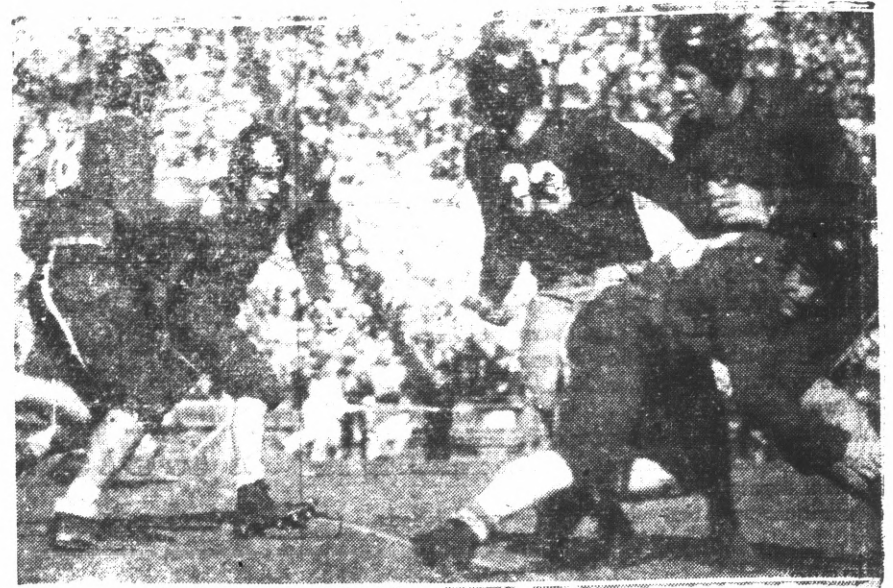

Little wonder that Coach Frank Ribbel has several players who are being tabbed as future college material and little astonishment that his proteges enter their last three games as favorites to win.

Richmond's lineup against Concord Friday afternoon is not available at this time because of the condition of Moitza and Swan but it is a good guess that the men that started the Alhambra game with the exception of the two injured players will be in their regular assigned positions.

S F U Team Is

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—UP—Coach Spud Lewis today warned his San Francisco university team against the versatility of Norman Franklin. Oregon State left half-back, but said he believed his team might win Lewis scouted the Gonzaga-Oregon State scoreless tie at Portland.

Touchdown in Two Plays

HARDLY HAD the St. Mary's-California game at Berkeley got under way Saturday when Nichilini (St. Mary's 76) on the second play carried the ball through left guard for a St. Mary's touchdown. Thorell, extreme left, and Christie of California are seen coming in but Nichilini eluded both. The tide of battle turned late in the game and California won, 14-13.

TO REPEAT
1931 VICTORY

ST. MARY'S COLLEGE, Oct. 17.—Smarting from a close defeat administered to them by the California Bears, the Galloping Gaels of St. Mary's today went into intensive practice sessions to prepare for their tussle with the Trojans at Los Angeles next Saturday before a large crowd of Southern California fans.

In losing a viciously contested game to the inspired Bears, the Gaels showed plenty of power, pushing over two touchdowns with sweeping end runs within the first quarter of the game.

The last team to defeat the present national champions, the Gaels come south out of the sweltering foothills of Moraga valley with a host of men who are said to match Jones' cohorts man for man in practically every position. Rated as underdogs in the coming contest, they bring their full strength against the Trojans, with the exception of Ed Gilbert, 223 pound guard and John Yezerski, mammoth tackle, both of whom were badly shattered in the Baer-Gael melee.

Ten of the Gael squad saw action in the last defeat administered to the Trojans in 1931—the southerners winning 24 contests in a row since then. Vets of St. Mary's last victory are: Yates, center; Shaefer and Gilbert, guards; Jorgensen, tackle; Fred and George, ends; Ahern, quarter; and Parice and Dodson, fullbacks. This gives Madigan virtually the same assortment of players that beat the Trojans in 1931, but he comes south this year with added backfield material in Fiese, Wilson and Nichilini, halves; and a string of other backfield men who have moved up from last year's frosh. Such are Mattos, half, Keilloga, full; Erlebatz and Edmangan, linemen.

Madigan's much vaunted "four-reared" attack has not as yet been shown in games in the Bay region, but is expected to function against the Jonesmen. So far, the Madigan offense has been orthodox Notre Dame slashing off-tackle plays, end runs and varied passes. Undoubtedly Madigan's quarters will have directions to open the play up wide, as it was the aerial game that set the Trojans down last time.

Since Madigan has assumed direction of Gael teams his average with the Trojans is two defeats and two victories. Saturday's game should break this deadlock between two of the Coast's great teams.

'Wonder Dog' Is
Race Loser At
Kennel Club

One of the biggest greyhound upsets of the season occurred last night at El Cerrito Kennel club track when War Cry, called the "wonder dog" ran fifth in the Northern California Greyhound championship before a capacity crowd.

Red Mark and Judge Brady led the special match field across the finish line in a highly spectacular race. War Cry, of last, had racing room as he lay fourth in the stretch but his legs wouldn't respond and he was far out of the money. Experts believe that the hindlegs injured suffered by War Cry a few weeks ago has robbed the champion of his former dazzling speed. Although some are anxious to see him get another chance, Judge Brady ran like a bullet and just missed victory. Dual options on Red Mark and Judge Brady were redeemed at $100. War Cry at 3 to 5, backed by all hands and just missed.

F. W. Whitehead scored a triple with Lady Hay in the sixth, Dusky Babe in the seventh and Him's Dog in the eighth. William Burnett, who owns War Cry, had Wolf Larson second in the eighth, while his Woaka won the ninth in splendid manner.

Celebration to Mark Completion of Two Bridges

Civic and business leaders of the San Francisco bay region voted yesterday afternoon at a meeting in San Francisco to stage a great celebration to mark completion of the San Francisco-Oakland and Golden Gate bridges in 1937.

More than a half-hundred members of the Bridge Celebration founding committee, selected to initiate plans for the celebration, unanimously chose J. W. Mailliard, president of the San Francisco chamber of commerce, as general chairman, and John M. Bonner, president of the Oakland chamber of commerce, as vice-chairman.

Governor James Rolph Jr. was named honorary chairman and Mayor Angelo J. Rossi of San Francisco and William J. McCracken of Oakland, honorary vice-chairmen.

Pledges of unqualified cooperation were received from three-score committee members who were unable to be present.

Wreck Was Due to Flood Waters

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—UP.—The Golden State Limited was wrecked near Tecumseh, N. M., last August 29 because "unprecedented flood waters aggravated by size and location of the highway bridge" undermined an abutment of a railroad trestle, a Southern Pacific board of inquiry decided here today.

The board said the flood was the highest recorded in the region. Eleven persons were killed in the wreck.

Speaking Of Sports

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10.—UP.—Al Griffith has power for line-smashing plays and speed in the open field.

Trojan coaches consider him the "spark plug" of the team. He is one of the three best passers on the Coast.

Praised By Coach
"Rosenberg is the best guard I ever have seen" is the way "Navy" Bill Ingram, California coach rates him.

"Rosy" weighing 210 pounds and six feet, one inch tall, leads Trojan plays out of the line and on defense is stationed at the fullback position. He is one of the fastest players on Jones' squad and a fine blocker.

Few ends in Western football history have the all-around ability of Ford Palmer, Trojan captain. Six feet tall, weighing 187 pounds, he is a solid type of player, who can stand 60 minutes of grueling football. Last year he caught passes which scored touchdowns against Pittsburgh, Stanford, Oregon State and Washington State. He played defensive halfback in most of last year's games. He probably is the best halfback on the Trojan club, "King Kong."

"They call him 'King Kong'," Erskine, Yok. Bob Erskine is the player many expect to become Jones' seventh All-American tackle.

As a freshman he weighed 180 pounds. Today he weighs 215 pounds, but has lost little of his speed and agility. As a freshman he played end. He was shifted to tackle during his sophomore year and last year played offensive halfback and defensive end.

Governor Is Bombarded for Appointment

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 10.—Governor Rolph said today the fight over whom he should appoint as member of the State Board of Prison Terms and Paroles, succeeding the late Charles Nunnally of Stockton, has grown so bitter he may have to go outside Stockton for an appointee. He previously said he favored Warren Atchison of Stockton for the post.

"Atchison still stands prominent for the position, Rolph said, 'but the fight between Atchison and C. E. Rendon, former has grown so bitter I may have to go outside that city for a name.'

Hopden, Stockton attorney, conferred with the Governor October 2 regarding the post. The Governor told Rendon and his delegation at that time the American Legion favored Atchison and he characterized Rendon's solicitation as a "barrage."

Columbus Day Celebrated By Service Club

Dr. George Buchner, leader of a side that lost in the recent contest conducted by the Richmond Lions, was chairman of the day yesterday when the Lions celebrated Columbus day.

Those who took part in the skit were Dr. R. J. P. Hammon as King Ferdinand; W. P. Drummey as Isabella; George Shaw as Columbus; Dr. A. B. Hinkley as Giovanni; Fred S. Newsum as Tony and E. C. Crane as Al Capone. A four-piece orchestra from Dr. Boehmer's division included Ed Hill, Dennis Shaw, Ward McCracken and Errol Lane and a quartet composed of Hill, Newsum, Shaw and Ralph Wood was also on the program. Dr. Boehmer acted as chairman of the day and Rev. Meryl Bish gave a short talk on Columbus.

At the meeting Ed Hoffman announced the opening of a horse show tournament; Dr. C. R. Blake of the welfare committee spoke of the white games being provided local blind people and Al Purser announced the ladies night dinner-dance to be held at the Berkeley Country club November 4.

Tear Gas Bombs Rout Strikers

WEIRTON, W. Va., Oct. 10.—UP.—Police used tear gas bombs to disperse strikers at the Weirton Steel company's plant today. Some 2000 pickets broke through police lines as workers, who entered the mill this morning, started to leave the plant.

The pickets scattered quickly to escape the fumes. Later some of the unarmored and buried unexploded bombs back at the officers.

Doctors Combine to Collect Bills

ATLANTIC, Ga., Oct. 10.—Thirteen physicians in Telfair county, Ga., have launched a "cash-in-advance" campaign in protest against the practice of regarding a doctor's bill as "the last to be paid."

Great care will be taken, according to the doctors, not to work any hardships nor to "shirk our duty to humanity" but the program is designed to force payments from patients who spend their money for "unnecessary pleasures" while the doctor goes unpaid.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Despite Roosevelt's move away from currency inflation for the time being, at least a lot of it is going on behind his back just the same.

Counterfeiting is now worse than at any time in recent history. There are two reasons for this. One is the fact that the Federal Reserve notes turned out during the Banking Holiday last March were done in such a hurry that sufficient time was not given for the ink to dry. This slight blurring makes counterfeiting easier. The second reason is the fact that an especially skillful gang of counterfeiters is now flooding the country with spurious notes.

So clever is their product that they have raised the rate passed on for "hot money" from ten cents per dollar to 25 cents.

The gang operates on a big scale and its methods resemble those of the bootleg racket. A passer invests $28 of good money for $100 of bad. He does this through a fence. He does not know who the original gang is nor does usually the fence.

Secret Service men picked up a passer in Alexandria, Va., last week, and hope they have a lead to the New York operators. But so far their efforts to check counterfeit inflation have been just as futile as President Roosevelt's may be at the next session of Congress.

LA BELLE CASARDI
Captain Ferdinando Casardi, naval attaché of the Royal Italian Embassy, is married to one of the most beautiful women in Washington.

Her looks are a legend throughout the Diplomatic Corps. But the other day Captain Casardi sat at dinner beside a society matron who had never met or seen his wife. Nevertheless she knew of her.

"You know, Captain," she mused, "I get so fed up with these stories about the beautiful Madame Casardi. Everywhere I go it's 'Do you know the beautiful Madame Casardi?' 'Have you seen the beautiful Madame Casardi?' I'm almost getting tired of it."

In reply Captain Casardi kissed her hand. "I've been hearing it for sixteen years," he said.

And there was real pathos in his voice.

LIQUOR QUANDRY
With the end of prohibition just two months off, the administration is lining up its liquor control policies. To combat them, liquor interests are just as actively lining up their lobbies.

The big question is the importation of foreign wet goods. Importation is going to be necessary if the parched American thirst for authentic liquor is to be asked. But the question is, what will be the conditions of importing?

Already the Pen-Mar Company of Kentucky has signed contracts with European distillers for exclusive selling privileges in the United States. Using inverse strategy, the W. H. Chaplin Company of London, controlling 28 wine companies in the British Empire, has been negotiating for control of California vineyards. They want to circum-

Two Suspects Arrested In Recluse Death

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 10.—UP.—Two suspects were questioned tonight in the slaying of John Reinhardt, aged recluse, whose body, bound and gagged with wire and leather straps, was found in his home today. Robbery was the motive, police believed.

Two men were seen to leave the home shortly before the body was found by William Gauss, nephew of Reinhardt. The old man who lived alone was said to be "well to do."

George Weimer, 38, one of the suspects, is on probation for a liquor law violation. He had been reported near the Reinhardt home. Fred Dunn, 28, a friend of Weimer, was found hiding in a weed patch in the back section later.

Gambling Outfit to be Auctioned

Some of the loot seized by the district attorney in the raid on the Eagle Beer hall, Tom Nunn's place in the Annex, will be destroyed, and some will be sold at auction as soon as the necessary permit is secured.

Yesterday District Attorney James F. Hoey asked the superior court for permission to destroy six table covers for "black jack" games, and an order for the sale of 19 tables, 4 benches, 10 chairs, 2 rolls of chicken wire, 38 stools, a screen door and an iron safe.

MUST SERVE HIS SENTENCE FOR MURDER

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 10.—UP.—Governor James Rolph Jr. tonight signed extradition papers that will return C. D. Cooper, alias Ben Jones of Los Angeles to a South Carolina prison to complete a sentence for murder.

Mrs. Irene Jones, the woman Cooper married after he fled a prison road crew in 1925 and obtained work in Los Angeles as a motion picture projection machine operator, collapsed as the governor concluded a hearing by denying a plea against extradition.

Attorney Leo Hood of Los Angeles engaged by Mrs. Jones to fight her husband's case, said he and his client would leave for South Carolina soon to seek a parole or pardon for the convicted murderer.

J. S. Baskin, South Carolina prison guard, left for Los Angeles to return Jones to the southern Atlantic state by automobile.

Governor Rolph refused a delay in extraditing Jones, sought by the latter's wife on the plea she wanted time to ask Governor Blackwood of South Carolina to parole or pardon her husband. Rolph said he intended "to permit Governor Blackwood to set his own case."

Deceased was one of the first contractors in Richmond, coming here in 1900. He resided in Richmond until about 9 years ago when he moved to Walnut Creek. He was also employed at the Standard Oil company while he lived here.

Holt Starring at Richmond Theater

What happens when a cold hearted woman marries a handsome engineer during a dream on board in Paris and then spends her honeymoon alone in Java, is the heart of the story of "When Strangers Marry" the new Columbia picture starring Jack Holt at the Richmond theater today.

Holt as Steve Rand, engineer and adventurer, meets Marian Drake (Lillian Bond), high-spirited young American during a fare-well to civilization brawl in Paris. Their two tense, colorful personalities are blended as they realize a mutual attraction, and they come to the sober senses sometime later to discover that they are man and wife.

Despite Marian's pleadings Steve refuses to abandon his contract to finish the railroad and only against his wishes, consents to take his young wife with him into the torrid climate of the tropical jungles of Java.

Midnight Wedding On Busy Highway

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—A truck stopped on a busy highway near Brookfield, Mass., at midnight several nights ago and the driver yelled: "Get us a preacher!" Somebody did, and to the accompaniment of whizzing traffic W. E. Lord of Jefferson City, Mo., and Sylvia Schaeffer, of Marion, Mo., were married.

F. C. Enslin, of Pinole, undertook a major operation at Hospital Richmond yesterday.

Mrs. F. E. Harrington of Port Costa was operated on at Hospital Richmond yesterday.

Hollywood Film Shop

HOLLYWOOD UP—In a sense Helen Vinson is a study in mild tragedy.

Fundamentally warm insular and her personal side is concerned, she nevertheless has been referred to as "Hollywood's most competent professional feminine heel."

This is a tribute to her histrionic talents, but it is a trifle disturbing to a young woman addicted to crocheting between scenes.

This conflict between her normal self and her professional career began a short while ago, to prey upon her sensitive mind. She decided that being a "heel" in nine consecutive flickers was bad, that it was influencing her conduct, making her testy.

And so, with a dramatic gesture, she bought out a contract that assured her three years of multifariousness, and decided to free herself only in sympathetic roles.

Luckily for her, Jesse L. Lasky offered her a chance to be something better than best, with the result that she is now a transformed actress, playing opposite Warner Baxter in "As Husbands Go."

The metamorphosis has been mental as much as physical. True, her coiffure, which had developed a certain harshness, is now soft and her clothes are flatter. But Helen herself has changed.

"It is difficult for outsiders to realize what it means to be typed as a screen villainess," said Helen.

"It isn't alone a professional matter—it carries on into the streets and the home. You're supposed to be real bad, and your directors expect you to maintain the illusion all the time."

Search for five criminally insane men who escaped from the state hospital at Salem Sunday centered in Portland and Hood river today when the police received reports two of the men had been seen.

An unidentified man who said he had known William O. Bowen, ring leader of the break, for years, declared he saw him get off a truck in downtown Portland. He followed him, but the man disappeared near the docks.

Vienna Awaits Big Battle In Socialist Riot

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 10.—UP

Socialist workers began anti-government demonstrations in the streets of the disturbed capital tonight.

The entire police force and reserves were on duty. Riot squads took stations at strategic points in the city. All public buildings were heavily guarded and soldiers were held in readiness to quell violence.

Officially, the government insisted that no trouble was expected and described the socialist demonstrations as "unimportant" and easily dispersed. The precautionary troop display, however, indicated the seriousness attached to the movement.

The demonstrations followed the government's dissolution yesterday of the "Workers Choral society" and the arrest of its leaders on charges of holding illegal political meetings.

The trend of the government of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss toward a dictatorship was denounced bitterly by socialist "soap box" orators.

Your Good HEALTH

By CLAUD N. CHRISMAN, M.D.

Advice for Parents With Children Going to School

THOUSANDS of children have just started their first year of school. Have you prepared your child for it? Oh yes, you have. You have purchased him new clothes and shoes and hats and rubbers and scarfs, so he is all ready. But, is he really ready? Have you seen that his body and mind and nervous system are prepared? The Board of Education of New York City require that every child who enters school must have a certificate of health signed by a regular physician before he can enter school.

THESE examinations must cover certain phases of health as agreed to by the Board of Education and the Board of Health. If you cannot afford the expense of an examination, the Board of Health will furnish the physician. Some such arrangement should be made in every community. The child must have been vaccinated against smallpox and should be vaccinated against diphtheria. The vaccination against diphtheria often does not become effective until three to six months.

YOUR child so far has been at home and among his own friends and now must go out into a new environment and mingle with many children. He will be exposed to new dangers and new diseases and we should give him all the protection possible. You may say, "I'll send him to a private school and then I will not have to have that nasty, dangerous vaccination done."

I HAVE practiced medicine for nearly forty years and I have created hundreds under all circumstances, yet I have never seen a serious result from vaccination. You may forget that those in the private school, may be there for the same reason your child is there and consequently he will be more liable to infection than in a public school where most children are protected. Have your child receive a thorough physical examination. You don't want him hampered by bad tonsils, or bad teeth.

IF HE has to be excused from school to have his tonsils removed or his teeth filled, he will miss some of his lessons and may get discouraged. He is underprivileged, not because of lack of food, but because he is not able to take it to the best advantage. He wants to know it and have it because he is tired and weak. If he does not rest well, he will be seriously hampered.

WHEN my oldest boy was in school, we were much worried because he failed to make good in some studies. He always understood all his lessons at home, but at school he did not do so well. One day while questioning him as to why, he said, "The teacher wrote the problems on the blackboard and I tried them down wrong. They seem to be kind of blurry." My eyes were opened, he needed glasses, and the poor work was over. But I feel that he would have been a better student if we had attended to the eyes before he entered school.

YOUR child may not hear perfectly and the teacher will say he is dull and inattentive. He can't be attentive when he doesn't understand what is said to him. The doctor will know how his hearing is and advise as to his exercise. He will examine the nose and throat, and see whether he has obstruction of the nose from polypoid growths or adenoids. Your child can't study well if he can't get his breath freely.

YOU must be understanding, patient and sympathetic. You must be interested. You must not coddle or he will be laughed at by his playmates. You must not defend him against his teachers. You must work with his teacher, so that both of you may obtain a better understanding of your child.

Luggage Labels
A luggage label can be used a second or third time if the address is written at the end instead of across the center in the ordinary way. On reaching your destination this part should be cut off and the same label is then ready for use on the return journey.

COLLEGE GIRL SHOULD START BEAUTY BUDGET

By JACQUELINE HUNT

IT'S the thought-up-in-a-minute parties that are gayest and the spontaneous things we do that are the most fun, but there are some things that must be done day in and day out, rain or shine. You must prepare your lessons, keep your costumes looking neat and fresh, and devote a certain amount of time to keeping your skin clear and fresh.

Time slips away so fast that you must use every moment wisely if you are to have a little leisure for the thrilling side of college life. You must fit the necessities into a schedule so you can accomplish as much as possible in the brief span of a day. You must guard your health as well as your beauty, and that means balance in your daily living—sufficient good food, time for work, time for relaxation, and time for beauty care.

Let's see how you can fit all of this into a busy day. Here is a suggested schedule that you may be able to adapt to your own use:
Six-thirty or seven arise. This should allow you plenty of time for primping, so you will be more confident and attractive when you reach the classroom, and plenty of time for a good breakfast. Swallowing a hurried bite or going without breakfast is one of the things that will make clear, young complexions muddy and steady nerves jumpy. When making up in the morning, remember that you should spend more time on cleansing than on make-up. And after cleansing, apply a vanishing foundation cream and apply a paste rouge, then your powder. This procedure will last until noon, or longer if necessary.

Twelve o'clock until one or two—Lunch. Even though you have only an hour between classes at noon, spend a part of that time in relaxation. If you have time to cleanse both your face and hands and renew your make-up, do so. It is so refreshing. If there isn't any time, dip a pad of cotton in very cold water, moisten it with a little perfume, and use it to cleanse your face. It will not remove the make-up but it will freshen it considerably so a dusting of powder from a clean puff or pad of cotton is enough to make you look like new. Cleanse your hands and apply a softening lotion.

For lunch eat good foods that will build health and give you a clear skin—milk drinks or soups, salads and simple desserts of fresh fruit. If you have been sitting in stuffy classrooms all morning, take a brisk walk in the open air so your pores will have a chance to breathe. If you have had a busy, active morning take a brief nap or relax for a few minutes. You will go back to your classes with an alert brain and won't feel like dozing all afternoon.

If you must study before dinner, tackle the easiest things. You are probably a little tense and tired and hungry. If you can take a shower or rest, it will be good for you. Do not indulge in between-meal sweets just because you feel hungry, but wait until dinner and go to it with a keen appetite. Enjoy your dinner and forget about exams on papers due tomorrow for at least that one hour. You will feel much more like tackling them afterward.

Budget your dates and studies so you will have time to get all of make-up. Do not risk getting clogged pores and blackheads because of such neglect. Save some evenings for special beauty measures like manicures, hair treatments and clothes repairs.
Do not waste your energy. Remember that your popularity depends on your youthful verve and enthusiasm and you can't have it if you are tired and nervous.

MODES AND MANNERS

QUESTION: "I am twenty-one, in love, and I want to marry the girl. She has said yes. What's the next step? Am I supposed to ask her father for her hand?—Wm. F. S."
ANSWER: Yes, and her mother, too. But, cheer up, you don't have to go on this mission alone. Today's custom is for the couple to go to the girl's parents and tell them. What they seek approval, having already made up their minds to wed, not the parents' consent.

A GOOD COOK SWAPS IDEAS

By JUDITH WILSON

IF YOU enjoy cooking, half of your pleasure probably lies in chatting and exchanging ideas on the subject with neighbors who share your interest. You can always find someone who has made some interesting discoveries in food combinations or in methods of preparation that will be helpful to you.

Often simple little touches will convert a dish that your family usually dislikes into one that they will beg for. Again left-overs may be used in combinations that seem unusually delicious although they cost but a few pennies.

One of the things that one of my friends has discovered is the use of dried fruits in preparing inexpensive meat dishes. She makes a delectable lamb stew with dumplings that owes a lot of its goodness to the use of dried apricots. Dried prunes and chile marrow beans go into a beef stew that has its origin in France and a handful of raisins into a mutton stew or into a Spanish steak. Dried fruit has a way of adding a subtle sweetness to meats. You can take the fruit out before the dish goes to the table if you wish or you can leave it there. Dried fruit has a way of taking away the strong flavor of meats like mutton, liver or game birds.

Our party menus today include some simple foods that are made unusual by their treatment. Instead of the usual fruit cup, our first menu begins with a chilled fruit soup. To make it, add a pinch of salt to three cups of pineapple juice and one-half cup water. Add three tablespoons of quick cooking tapioca and cook until transparent. Add one-half cup lemon juice and one-half cup granulated sugar and stir until the later is dissolved. Chill. Just before serving add one orange cut into small cubes. Put into bouillon cups and garnish with tiny mint sprigs stuck into slices of lemon. You can make this "soup" the day before and keep it in the refrigerator until you are ready to use it. The recipe makes eight servings.

ROUNDED AND DROPPED SHOULDERS

This frock from L. Imbocher in black crepe shows the new rounded and dropped shoulder style. The use of flowers at the neck and the low skirt flounces are other features.

New York—The so called separate furs that may be worn with cloth or velvet dresses, with suits and so on, are the types in which furriers report the greatest interest. After all fur coats of various widths, collars of the storm variety, muffs and so on are all part of the picture being reconstructed. Added to Alaskan seal is more another favorite favorite a return engagement. There is, however, no falling off in Persian lamb. American broad tail lends itself very well to flat arrangements such as are being used, reverses and that sort of thing, and is consequently very much used.

Combining Fabrics
Fabric alliances are practical. Limited wool and satin is the first to come to mind. Fur is used as a trimming on evening dresses as well as day dresses and coats. Turn over fur collars. Flat form, of course, are smart, and so are gilets and boleros in flat backs. Monkey is not passe, and appears as a trim on many models, especially satin ones.

Furriers have evolved many interesting and original ways of introducing fur both for day and evening wear.
Evening Wraps
Evening wraps naturally rate first in the elegance movement toward which all fashions are turned. Greater sweep of line, and luxury of fabrics justify these claims. It is a year when the identity of the evening wrap has a spotlight all of its own—no more borrowing of daytime style ideas, but a tendency to use daytime colors. Chinchilla hat and the several synthetic chinchillas are being offered as a substitute for the practically priceless chinchilla.

One is impressed with the attention shown back movements, introduced in distinguished ways with trains, sometimes in panel arrangement, and again in some sweeping effects.
It is interesting to observe also the detail of skirts, tunics adding to length of line and stressing a slender silhouette, and large bows sometimes in butterfly and also in shirred applique treatments, are new-looking. Duff coats in a color contrast with the gown are smart looking in an old-fashioned way, the combination of turquoise with black being outstanding.

Black cashmere broadcloth is used in this coat which features all of the latest trends in collar shapes, sleeve fullness and fur borders.

You and Your Child

MANY CHILDREN EAT TOO MUCH

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

MANY parents overfeed their children. A child is overfed if he is forced to eat when he is not hungry, though it may be midnight. Through the effort of an indulgent mother, many a child has learned the habit of eating more than is necessary, or more than is good for him at one sitting.

I have in mind the case of a girl who is fifty-five pounds overweight. She is twelve, and a mammoth child. Many who see her remark that she has the appearance of a gladiator type of obesity. But I doubt it, as she was normal as to size until her seventh year. Since then, however, I know for a fact that she took her meals with the grown-up members of the family and was served regular adult portions and sometimes more.

Until recently Susan's mother presented the suggestion that she put the child on a diet. Her answer was, "She's a growing child and needs plenty of nourishment." Now Susan is such a large girl for her age, that she worries about her size. She studies herself before the mirror. She would like to be able to wear the dainty clothes the other girls wear. The question of clothes has always been a problem to her mother, but now she herself is deeply concerned, having become boy-conscious. Susan's mother has seen a doctor about a diet. He said to cut down on potatoes, bread, butter, cream and cream sauces. Susan tries, but is not very happy dieting and doesn't always succeed.

A Child's Size Portion
A child who takes his meals alone, or with other children of the family, has a chance to learn appetite control. For one thing he won't be tempted to eat adult foods or adult servings. If whole-some food is simply prepared the mother does not have to go to the trouble and expense of cooking separately for the children.

A child's servings should be small, with the privilege reserved to come back for more to comply with his appetite needs. The capacity of the young child is about one-half or one-third as great as the adult's.

The flavor of coffee will be more delicious if it is allowed to stand for a few minutes after removing from the fire. Pouring a little cold water into the spout will also have a settling effect.

Chilean Government Makes Success of State Pawnshops

THERE are few countries in the world where the State acts as official pawnbroker to its citizens, but the Caja de Credito Popular, a State pawnshop established by the Chilean Government, has completed six flourishing years of activity. When founded, the government of the day sought to cheapen credit facilities for the needy classes. The average Chilean workingman lives from one day to another and not infrequently pawns his household goods weekly. Previously, the pawnbroking business was largely in the hands of the Spanish colony, and in defense of the scheme, it was urged that the privately-owned pawnshops charged as much as three per cent per month, or thirty-six per cent per annum. The Caja only charges interest of one and one-half per cent per month.

It was natural, then, that the established firms should set up an outcry when the State decided to act as competitors in a very lucrative business. Even so, the scheme worked harmoniously for some years. Spanish private brokers tried to defeat their State competitors' low interest rates by loaning a higher percentage of the article pledged. At present the State has established branches all over Chile and maintains strict control of private pawnshops through a rather thorough inspection system.

Provisional President Don Carlos Davila has sought to extend the scope of the work carried out by the State pawnshops, and to that end has devised several amendments to the original plan. When he was arrested by the Montero administration for plotting against the government, it was alleged that one of the points in the revolutionary program was the devolution of all pledges in pawnshops to the workers. The Chilean press scoffed at this idea as being incredible and impossible. Yet within twenty-four hours after seizing power, Senor Davila decreed that all pledges held by the State pawnshops, including those for tools, clothing or other essential things, should be returned to the workers.

No SOONER had Davila taken office than amazing scenes were enacted in Santiago, the capital. At six in the morning long lines formed, stretching for many blocks, in order to obtain the necessary passes from the schools of social service, with which to redeem pledges. Like any other human being the Chilean laborer loves to get something for nothing. So, before many hours had passed during this first morning of strong reinforcements of police were necessary to control the crowds which wished to get their things out of hock.

The anti-climax came when the government was forced to suspend temporarily the handing out of the pledges because it was found that some of the "smart" laborers were getting their property out of the State pawnshops and "walking" across the street to redeem them immediately. Subsequently all this was remedied when orders were issued that no pledges would be returned to their owners unless a woman social inspector had previously satisfied herself that the particular family was in actual want.

With the development of the State pawnshops in Chile, there was established a chain of government stores for the disposal of unredeemed pledges. These stores are run very much like a small department store and are very popular with the masses because of the bargains which are frequently offered. According to an employees' association request, President Davila has decreed that bona-fide workers, duly enrolled in the State Welfare Bank, may purchase any but luxury goods from these stores and pay for them on the installment plan.

EARLY TRAINING OFTEN GUIDES ADULT'S ACTION

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

LISTEN to the plaint of a reader who signs himself "Anxious Father." "I think it was during my second time on earth that I encountered the 'modern mother.' She in no way resembled the mother of my previous existence. This 1933 type I worry about much more than I do my respect. When I was new on this earth there was extant in the land a variety of hairdos that started like a liquid fire when it came in contact with the adolescent posterior, but subsequently the military brush came along, women shortened their hair, and what with this and that, spanking went into the discard."

"IT IS my opinion that a Grade A slapping wouldn't hurt some of our citizens-to-be. But no. The 'modern mother' lays flat on her back blowing smothering rings at the ceiling while her children are rending the living room furniture limb from limb."

"SHE admonishes the child at all, she does so in a tone of voice so mild that many of us do not recognize the reproof it is supposed to convey. And in moments of leisure, if any, mamma talks to her children in the terms of a problem play."

"SOMETIMES when I note in the newspapers that a college sophomore has tossed himself through a ten-story window, I come to the conclusion that he was brought up wrong—that too much attention was paid to forcing his brain—that the child was softened up and then when he got out in the world found that the home training was all wrong and that mamma was a good bit of a liar most of the time. It is really no joke to find out that one's mother has let one down—and that is what seems to be going on all over the circus lot these days."

"I AM wondering if the decline of the hair-brush industry is responsible for a lack of spinal fortitude in our young; because they are woefully soft and some of the young boys leave one in doubt as to their sex. Do you believe that long hair will bring back the long hair-brush, and that with Victorian renaissance we will have stouter fellows?"

"ANXIOUS FATHER."
AND that "modern mother" is one "stout fella's" reaction to your role, and to your offspring. I am in a quandary as to how to answer this letter. It is, after all, a mixture of sincerity and joking, and which somehow seems to lean more toward sincerity and criticism of the accepted method of upbringing, more especially the relationship between mother and father. The letter might have been signed "Old Fashioned Father."

DOUBTLESSLY, many a father feels as this man does. Only he holds his peace, having been sold completely on the idea that bringing up children is a mother's job, and that father should not interfere. But they should really. It takes two to bring up a child properly, or so we have every right to believe, since it was certainly the original scheme. Mothers too often lack sufficient iron in their make-up to be capable of handling the job alone.

IT will be interesting if nothing more, to see how these youngsters who are allowed free rein in self-expression are going to turn out. The mothers who have the easiest time of it when their children are young need not be at all sure of escaping altogether. A spoiled child grows into something even more unlovely than a spoiled child, and is apt to spread heartaches in his wake.

THE method of early control may impose hardships on the young mother, but it usually saves her later on. Attacking a defenseless child with a hairbrush is not my idea of the best way to correct his errors. Still, I must admit it was a method long in use and one that seemed to work. Men are inclined to the belief that physical violence is the only thing some natures—masculine natures, anyway—really understand and respect.

IT'S easy enough to understand that a mother might make herself rather absurd in the eyes of a child old enough to give her battle, and unless she was positively sure of carrying off the situation with a high hand, she had better not attempt any drastic punishment that might be physically beyond her. That's where fathers come in.

avenue to catch the bus, while school busses would transport children living further from San Pablo avenue to the avenue, where they would take the Key bus to school.

Would Save Money

Under this plan, the school board would save a considerable sum, it was stated. No new busses would have to be purchased and by shorter runs for the school vehicles used on the "feeder line" oil, gas and upkeep could be saved.

This was explained to a delegation of ladies from Mira Vista who attended yesterday's meeting to ask that transportation be provided for the children.

A petition was also received from El Cerrito and North Richmond, asking that transportation be done about this matter.

Scott Tells of Inequalities

Scott pointed out that under the present set up, children living in Berkeley Park section, are provided with transportation, while children living in El Cerrito must provide their own. In some cases, Scott said, children living only a block out of the Berkeley Park area, see their playmates living in the Park section transported to school, while they must either walk or provide their own means of transportation.

It was also decided to continue the present system of providing free transportation for children of indigent families.

Turf Field For Gridiron Is Proposed

sweeps across the field, covering spectators and players and then is carried by the wind to neighboring homes, where it covers houses, lawns and fruit trees.

Chairman Hughes declared that in his opinion this might be made the basis of a suit by residents, who would sue the school on the grounds that the dusty field was a distinct nuisance.

Aubrey Wilson declared that Richmond is only one of the very few schools in the bay district that is not equipped with a good turf field.

Under the proposal made by the school district and the board of the school would be the cost of installing the turf. Estimates will be received as probable cost of the work. Turf would be installed immediately after the present grass is allowed to grow to take root in the soil. A well drilled to supply water to the field. Further action will be taken at a meeting.

an expansion program would in all probabilities be discussed by the board, due to overcrowded conditions in the Richmond schools. In the present time, if such a program is considered, the letter added, it would be appreciated if provisions were made for the El Cerrito school.

Under the present setup El Cerrito children attended the two local junior high schools and the present senior high school. Opinion in El Cerrito is that their city could be better provided for if junior and senior high schools could be built there.

Acitation has been under way in El Cerrito for the past several years on this project.

Other routine matters were discussed during the session by the board. A key making machine was ordered purchased at a cost of $25.

Chamber Will Hear Address By U.S. Engineer

The Richmond Chamber of Commerce directors at their meeting today will entertain Lieutenant Colonel Henry A. Finch, U. S. district engineer, who will be here on invitation of P. M. Sanford, president of the chamber.

Finch, who held the meetings at which evidence was presented regarding Richmond's need for additional dredging in the local harbor, has been asked to be the chamber's guest in order that the city may show its appreciation of his interest in its harbor and of the recognition which he has given to its harbor needs.

He will be asked to deliver a short talk dealing with the local dredging plan and on other dredging and harbor activities of the government on this coast.

Meanwhile Richmond looks forward to early action on the program of widening the local channels, inasmuch as the contract for the work has been let to the Standard Dredging company which will commence work in ten days, perhaps within a week, it was announced by Fred D. Parr.

"At the chamber meeting where Lieutenant Colonel Finch will be our guest, we will have an opportunity to show our real appreciation for what has taken place," said Parr. "President Sanford is to be congratulated for bringing this man to our meeting, so we can express to him what it means to us to have the government undertake a program in our channels which will make it possible for ships of the largest draft to enter the harbor."

selected after tentative decisions were made by Joseph Goetz, St. Paul brewer, Frank Johnson, Oklahoma City banker, and John A. Brown, Oklahoma City merchant, were abandoned, Rorer said he was told.

Kelly was represented as having made a pact with Verne Miller, renegade South Dakota former sheriff, that one or the other would kill Urschel and Walter R. Jarrett, Urschel's friend, for giving information to officers.

Winkler was named by Rorer as one of the men with whom Kelly talked when he fled to Chicago. Berzel was named as the man who supplied the Kellys with an automobile, $200 and a quart of whisky for a flight to Memphis.

Rorer linked Winkler and Verne Miller with the case. The Arnold girl told of going with the Kellys in Chicago to a saloon where they met and talked with Berzel.

The girl said Kelly talked in Chicago about killing Judge Edgar S. Vaughn, Joseph B. Keenan, President Roosevelt's crime minister, and Prosecutor Herbert K. Hyde.

The revelations of kidnaping plans and talk of multiple killings sent shudders through the nearly 200 women who crowded early into the small fortified tower courtroom to see Kelly.

Mrs. Kelly, who said she would claim her husband forced her into the kidnaping plot, was pictured in the little girl's story as a hard, brutish woman who said Urschel should have been killed after the ransom was collected.

Kelly was identified early in today's sessions as the man who collected the ransom in Kansas City from E. E. Kirkpatrick, go-between, Albert Bates, now serving a life sentence on conviction at the first trial, was named in other testimony as the man who helped Kelly with the abduction.

The two split the ransom, $100,000 each, and matched for the leather bag in which it was delivered, Rorer said Kelly told him.
